DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTER SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

Self-learning is promoted in the institute by creating facilities under various modes viz: web based learning, learning with multimedia support, presentations using PPTs and symposia. The Institute has state of the art internet lab facility in an exclusive building with 60 systems. All the self learning resource materials are made available in this lab for the students to learn emerging topics of their choice. The institute identifies certain broad requirements of the students beyond the curriculum to enable them shine in the competitive industrial environment. For this purpose the institute has provided the following modules.

Availability of various Self Learning Materials:

1. Tele lectures
2. NPTEL – e-learning / web learning
3. e-books
4. Printed materials- Handouts
5. Group discussion & Role play / peer discussion
6. You-Tube Videos
7. Educational tours
8. Paper presentations in seminars
9. Net Browsing
10. Lecture notes by faculty
11. CDs supplied along with text books
12. Educational documentaries
13. Old question papers